

Between Buyers and Sellers

The main goal of Revipack is to provide relevant information to managers, professionals and technicians about packaging materials, machines, technologies, processes and services. As a communication link between providers and users, Revipack promotes clever choices and helps companies to increase its sales and results, to improve productivity and to become more competitive.

Editorial Concept

Revipack publishes articles about new packaging materials, processes and machinery, as well as successful application stories and technical papers. Revipack offers information to all major packaging users within the food, beverage, pharmaceutical, personal care and electronics markets, among others.
